In The Fall Line™

In One Day, Take Your Performance Higher!

We've had such success with Leadership in the Fall Line®, we've been asked to create a one day program for you! Here it is:

What You Can Expect During Your Day "In the Fall Line"

A Typical Day "In the Fall Line" - you're up at 6:30am, a stretch, quiet time, visiting your goals for the day as a whole. Over continental breakfast at 7:30am, we review the goals of individuals and/or teams, and focus on the day ahead.

We transport early to the top of the mountain and the skiing begins. The faculty tracks your skiing, as well as your leadership and life learning; metaphors and "ahaa's" show up throughout the morning in support of your goal achievement.

At lunch we focus on learning points, and on the application of your learning thus far to your goals.

Following a working lunch we head back out on the mountain, and our world-class coaches take your skills to a level you didn't dream possible in one day.

At après ski we have our last working session led by the coaching faculty. We address how skiing applies to work, how learning can be translated to home, and how to take all you've learned back to work; these are life lessons, leadership lessons, and oh yes, ski lessons.

You'll find the facilitation and learning is constant, and focused. But you still have time to smile, to laugh. This is a one-day retreat, and the learning is at a much deeper level because we integrate head, heart and gut. Throughout our process you get to focus on your learning goals as an leader, for your organization, for your team, your life...and yes, for your skiing.
